Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 1, 5, 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 claims “configuring one or more rules for responding to a communication attempt” and “the configuration of the at least one communication device” are confusing. The “configuring one or more rules for responding to a communication attempt” refers to a configuration for rules that are used for responding to a communication attempt. The “the configuration of the at least one communication device” refers to a configuration for devices. It is unclear if these two limitations refer to the same or not.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Art Unit: 2645

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gudjonsson et al (US: 6564261).

For claims 1, 5, 9, Gudjonsson et al teach on Fig. 9 communication devices associated with a voice network and a data network.

Gudjonsson et al teach on Fig. 26 connection server (claimed “unified communication manager”).

Gudjonsson et al teach on column 9 line 8-12 SIP (reads on claimed “instant messaging service”).

Regarding “receiving a message.....communication devices”, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 3 line 9-13.

Regarding “configuring one or more.....in the message”, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 3 line 14-63 how the connection is configured. Gudjonsson et al teach on column 3 line 19-22 a logic (claimed “one or more rules”). Gudjonsson et al teach on column 9 line 65 to column 10 line 7 the rules are based on an invitation for text chat (reads on claimed “based on information in the message”).

Art Unit: 2645

Regarding “transmitting to.....communication device”, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 13 line 5-18 a sending user (claimed “the user”) is provided a text chat invitation (claimed “instant messaging service”) when the communication session do get established (reads on claimed “notification indicating the configuration of the connection”).

Regarding claims 2, 6, 10, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 8 line 57-63 determining whether the user is currently online or not.

Regarding claims 3, 7, 11, 15, for a voice chat the signaling information must be received via a voice network.

Regarding claims 4, 8, 12, 14, for a text chat the connection information must be received via a data network.

Regarding claim 13, all rejections as stated in claim 1 above apply.

Regarding “establishing the telephone calls to the user in accordance with the rules, including forwarding calls when necessary to one or more terminals associated with the user based on stored user profile information”, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 9 line 66 to column 10 line 7 forward invitations (reads on claimed “forwarding calls”) based on configured RS (reads on claimed “rules.....on stored user profile”).

Art Unit: 2645

Regarding claim 16, Gudjonsson et al teach on column 15 line 60-61 forward (claimed “downloading”) the status change (claimed “code”) to the clients (claimed “at least one of the communication devices”).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gudjonsson et al (US: 6564261), and in view of Matthews et al (US: 6584122).

All rejections as stated in claims 1 and 15 above apply.

Gudjonsson et al failed to teach “receiving a.....speech processor”. However, Matthews et al teach on column 17 line 51-53 a DSP (claimed “speech processor”) in a voice network. It would have been obvious to one skilled at the time the invention was made to modify Gudjonsson et al to have the “receiving a.....speech processor” as taught by Matthews et al such that the modified system of Gudjonsson al would be able to support the speech processor to the system users.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 1/30/04 have been fully considered but they were not persuasive.

- i) Applicant argues, on pages 8-12, regarding referenced prior arts relative to the amendments. Rejections for the amendments have been stated above.
- ii) Applicant argues, on page 11, regarding motivation for claim 17. The motivation of modifying Gudjonsson et al in view of Matthews et al has been clearly stated in the rejection. The motivation was to modify Gudjonsson et al so that the system of Gudjonsson et al would include limitation of "receiving a.....speech processor" as taught by Matthews et al. Therefore, the modified system would support the speech processor as claimed by the Applicant.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not replied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Sato (JP: 59169264) teaches confirming system for connection of line.
